TCMG 412: DevOps and the modern IT team

Questions for peer evaluations

Description text:

Please evaluate your peer's performance on this project. You will also be evaluating yourself — be as objective as possible about your own performance.

Questions:

1. The team member was engaged in the project, and pulled his/her weight:
This question is about each team member's commitment — their willingness to do their share. Remember that due to schedules and constraints a student might be willing to engage more than they can.
SCALE: Definitely, Somewhat, Not really, Not at all
2. The team member was prepared and reliable:
Timeliness is an important quality for each member of a team. Could you rely on your peer to have work done when they said they would?
SCALE: Definitely, Somewhat, Not really, Not at all
3. The team member was competent and their work was of high quality:
This is about the quality of their contributions. Could you count on them to do things right, and all the way?
SCALE: Definitely, Somewhat, Not really, Not at all
4. The team member was professional and friendly, and was easy to work with:
Team cohesion can be a fragile thing. A team member who makes life harder for others can be a liability, no matter how good their other work may be.
SCALE: Definitely, Somewhat, Not really, Not at all
5. On a scale of 1 to 5, how well did your team manager lead your group efforts?
Did your team leader help move the project along? Were you able to go to them with a problem and get a solution? Did they seek to engage all members of the group?
SCALE: 1=Poorly, 5=Very well

REFLECT

From all the concepts covered in class this week, which one had the most impact on you? This could be either from a personal point of view, or from the point of view of the major you are pursuing? Please explain why. (short essay)

FIND

Please conduct an electronic search to find one (1) reading (i.e.—article, blog post, paper, or other type of publication) or one (1) resource (i.e.—video, lecture, tool, app, or other type of resource) that relates to any topic covered in class this week. Provide a brief synopsis (summary) of the reading or the resource you found, together with a short explanation of why and how it relates to the course. Be sure to include the URL address where the reading or the resource can be found.

Finally, please copy your response to this question to the Course blog so that other students can share your resource. (short essay)

APPLY

Reflecting on your learning from the lectures and activities this week, discuss one idea, concept, technique, tool, or resource that stuck out in your mind and describe how you could apply this in the future. Finally, please copy your response to this question to the Course blog so that other students can share your resource. (short essay)
